KILLED BY A MOB.

The Crowd Made Mincemeat of President Diaz's Assailant.

HACKED TO DEATH WITH KNIVES.

Arroyo, the Would Be Assassin, Was In * Straightjacket and Could Offer No Resistance to the Men Who Slaughtered Him.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 18 .-- A most sensational ending to the attempt on the life of President Diaz occurred when Arnuifo Arroyo was lynched by a sand of the common people determined on revenge. It was un act unprecedented in the history of the country. A number of men belonging to the common people forced their way into the municipal balace, ascended the stairway, overcame the guards and made their way to the office of the inspector general of police and killed Arroyo, whom they found

The killing was a wild and savage scene and was followed by a wild and awakened by the noise. He arose and ran to the balcony, firing his pistol as a signal for help.

At the same time he called to a policeman who was in sight to make an attempt to detain the lynchers, who were making their escape.

The firing of pistols and the whistles of policemen brought other policemen. who succe-ded in capturing a score of persons. It was not long before the inspector general and Inspector Villavicencio arrived on horselack. When the police entered the room they found the body of Arrayo lying on the floor. It was literally backed with knife

An examination showed that the panes of a window were broken. The men who were captured would not say anything. A group of people was found on one of the sile streets. They were talking and discussing the lynching. They appreared to know an about the affair, tout when approvehed by reperters became suddenly non-ommunicative.

On several other strests recorters found persons who seemed to know all alout the killing.

When Arroyo was surprised by the mob, he was sitting in a chair in a private office. There, mixed with fragments of window panes, was a long pool of blood marking the spot where Arroya had been stabled. The body was o moved to the Fourth ward police station. The gendarates who were guarding Arreyo were unarme I Over 200 persons penetrated the building. When they surprised Arroyo, he was in a struightjacket and could make no resistance He seemed too terrified to speak.

May Agree on a Scale.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 18.-Indiana operators and miners are in a joint conference to agree on a scale Miners and operators are more fully represented than ever before in the state, and all agree on 55 cents, but the operators say they want assurance that Danville, Ills., will not work for less. The Danville miners sent three delegates to give that assurance. The operators at Danville are represented to be willing to pay 56 cents, but unwilling to recognize the miners' labor organization by signing with a committee.

Enys an Armory.

ALBANY, Sept. 18 .- Lawyer John F Montignani of this city bought in the Tenth battalion armory, which was sold for water rent Thursday, for $3.50. Mr. Montignani now holds the federal building in this city and the armory, both of which are new buildings.

American Mill In Canada Burned. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 .- A telegram has been received from United States Consul Ledoux, at Three Rivers. Que., stating that the St. Maurice Lumber company's large sawmill near there, owned by United States citizens, has been burned to the ground.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 18 .--Homer B. Willard, the forger, and well known as a hotel swindler, was sentenced to 14 months in Dannemora prison. He was convicted of grand larceny in the second degree.

The Luctgert Case.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 .- Yesterday's sessions of the Luctgert case were given up entirely to the hearing of technical eviIMPHOVEMENT IN BUSINESS.

Some Wear a Reaction, but Dun's Review Does Not Think This Probable.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The end of the bituminous coal strike and the return of many thousand men to work at advanced wages adds to the purchasing power of the people, and the anthracite region affects not a fifth as many workers. The starting of many mines and works, the enormous exports of wheat and corn, the favorable news as to those crops and cotton, the fall in sterling exchange and the report showing that gold imports began in August, exceeding exports by $2,390,587, while merchandise exports exceeded imports by $10,953,753, have all contributed to forward the improvement in business. The replenishment of stocks cannot be half finished, though some who could see no sign of improvement a few weeks ago are now finding it so vast and rapid that they fear reaction. But reasons for apprehension are not urgent. When the tide rises after four years of depression, it does not fall again after four weeks.

The wheat market has declined over ficents on account of crop reports which promise larger prosperity, and corn and cotton are both a little lower for like reasons, yet estimates of the highest financial authorities regarding requirements from this country are not smaller, but larger than before, while better prospects in Argentina. Australia and India hold out no promise of large European supplies, or of any until winter is about over. Atlantic exports of wheat, flour included, are more than doubl- last year's each week. Corn declined over 1 cent, with growing belief that the yield will surpass estimates. Cotton was depressed from 71% to 75% cents, with favorable news of yield, although the mills are now consuming with great rapidity.

Tallures for the week have been 204 in the United States against 317 last year, and 40 in Canada against 32 last

GEORGE GOULD HOME

He Discusses the Angell Case and the Financial Situation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 .- George Jay Gould, the millionaire, who with his family and a personal retinue, arrived here last night on the steamship St. Louis, from England, said there is absolutely nothing in the rumors about the selling of the Gould and Sage interests in Manhattan Elevated stocks. He said that the proposed suit against his father's estate by Mrs. Angell had been completely disposed of by the affidavit of the latter. He knew from the first, he said, that the whole matter was a fraud. When asked if he intended to prosecute the parties implicated in the conspiracy, Mr. Gould said that he would let that rest with the public prosecutor.

Regarding the financial situation, Mr. louid said he is greatly pleased with the fine outlook. He declared that there has been majerial improvement in the country's condition and said that in England and on the continent there is a very good idea of the improvement here and that the general impression there is that the good times have come to stay. He believes in this himself.

Actor Willard Here.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18-E. S. Willard. the Fighsh actor, with ten members of his company, arrived last night on the steamship St. Louis. He will open the season here with a play called "The Physician." Mr. Willard's leading lady is Miss Maud Hoffman of San Franisco. Miss Keith Wakeman of the same city is also in the company.

Italian Captain Claims One of His Sailors Is Crazy.

THE MAN HIMSELF DENIES THIS.

Says That He Was Set Upon by th Skipper and His Crew For No Reason Whatever, Then

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.-When the Italian bark Spena arrived here last night, Captain Martino Frazego reported to the police that one of the members of his crew had become violently insan. during the voyage and requested the removal of the man to a hospital for Boarding the bark at quarantine, in a little dark hole in the bow of the vessel Police Captain Schultz saw what he first thought to be a large dog chained to the floor. It was groping about on all fours, and a matted beard and long and unkempt hair covered the face and head. Captain Schultz was informed that the cowering object in the hole was the crazy man, and as he descended into the place there was a raitling of chains and piteous moans. A cold chisel was required to out the rivets which held a five-eighths inch chain about the sailor's arms and legs.

The sailor, when questioned by an interpreter, said his name was Stefano Spagnaio and that he is 29 years old and a resident of Alasia, Italy. He also stated that he shipped on the Spena 150 days ago. On Aug. 5, the sallor said. he was set upon by Captain Frazego and his mer without any reason, terribly beaten and then, bound in chains was thrust into the dark hole. His hands were fastened behind his back. He was given enough food to keep him alive. Spagnalo said that when he boarded the vessel he weighed about 160 pounds, but the ill treatment and suffering had reduced him to nearly 100 pounds and turned his hair gray. The sailor declares he is perfectly sane.

At Bellevue hospital, to which institution Spagnaio was removed, large sores caused by the chains were found on his ankles and wrists. He will be examined as to his mental condition.

The police do not think the Italian sailer is demented and wonder how he survived the cruel treatment he claims to have received during the past 55 days.

The Spena, which carried a cargo of rice, coffee and sugar, sailed from Fingapore for this port 155 days ago.

Changes In Color of Stamps.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.-While or account of the agreement made by the international postal congress, there wil be no change in the color of the 2 cent postage stamp the colors of stamps of some of the other denominations will be altered. That congress provided for uniform colors for stamps of certain denominations or their equivalent in the money of each country, applicable to all the administrations of the postal union. This will require a change in the 5 cent stamp, which represents the single rate fore, an letter postage. It is now : light brown, but it will become a dark Idue. The I cent stamp, now a blue, will be changed to green. These changes which will become operative on the Is day of January, 1899, were incorporated in the international postal treaty concluded by the postal congress, which, when it shall be attested by the official signatures of the postmaster general and the approval of the president, will have the effect of law. The president and the pestmaster general are expected to sign the document within the next

STILL QUIET AT HAZLETON. General Gobin Will Prevent Any Disorder

situation may be summarized thus: Over 10,000 men are still out, with no apparent prospect of settlement, sporadic outbreaks of violence are occurring near the outlying collieries, and the withdrawing of troops is not only unthought of, but the guard lines of several of the camps are being constantly strengthened, and the wisdom of bringing more cavalry is being discussed. It was said that if the soldiers are kept here much longer the Sheridan troop of Tyrone, attached to the Second brigade, will be ordered out.

A captain of General Gobin's staff is authority for the statement that an uneasy feeling prevails at headquarters in consequence of the little outbreaks of the past few days and the indication they hold of the underlying disturbance. The brigade commander himself admitted that the action of the raiding women was giving him much perplexity. He does not care to use force against them and has instructed the soldiers, in case of necessity, to use only the flats of their sabers upon the amazons. The story reached the general that many men were in the attacking crowds disguised as women. A call for troops came from Cranberry vesterday and was the act of a scared night watchman, who mistook the soldiers for strikers. All the dynamite that can be found in the region is being collected and stored in Turnbach's powder house to keep it from the hands of the miners, and 100 men from the Ninth regiment were sent over to guard the house. The watchman saw the lights and moving figures, lost his nerve and telephoned that an attack was threatened.

Another territory has been turbulent. A body of strikers at Lattimer, No. 2. quarreled among themselves, and bloodshed threatened, when company E of the Thirteenth regiment, which is camped at Lattimer, restored quiet.

Deputy Coroner Bowman will begin the inquest over the bodies of the dead miners next Tuesday afternoon. Over 100 witnesses will be examined.

General Gobin will not interfere with onight's big mass meeting unless highly colored speeches are made. The principal speakers are to be P. J. Maguire, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and George Chance of the United Labor league. As a precautionary measure, a guard of soldiers will be present. Organizer Faney and other leaders have asked that the militia be withdraun, and General Gobin has advised them that the speediest way to accomplish this will be to stop holding mass meetings and thereby exciting the

The only change in the strike situation proper was the return to work of the 500 men employed at Coxe's Beaver Meadow colliery. The miners say that this is only temporary and that if the other Coxe men at Drifton and elsewhere decide at their meeting of Monday to go out the Beaver Meadow men will join them.

ON CAPTAIN RAY'S REPORT.

That Is Why Our Government Is Sending Soldiers to Alaska.

ASHINGTON Sent 15 -7 from Captain Ray, the army officer who was sent to Alaska to investigate the condition of affairs there, formed the basis of the cabinet decision to send a small force of soldiers to St. Michaels at the earliest moment. Captain Ray's advices were dated Aug. 27. He was then at St. Michaels, about to take the steamer up the Yukon for Circle City. His report showed that without doubt great suffering must be expected in the Klandike region this winter owing to the lack of food supplies, Further details on that point were promised at a later date. He regarded it as essential that some kind of force acting under lawful authority be placed at St. Michaels to restrain the lawless element. Secretary Alger late yesterday afternoon gave the necessary orders for the sending of troops. There will be only 25 infantrymen, and they will be sent from Fort D. A. Russell, where Captain Ray had made a selection of hardy men to accompany him when he was about to go north before. Those men will be under the lead of Lieutenant Colorel Randall of the Mighth infantry, or Chevenne, Wy., and there will be a surgeon and three members of the army hospital corps, because of the report of prevailing sickness in Alaska

British Soldiers at Camp Anayat Sustain a Loss.

MANY WERE KILLED AND WOUNDED.

The Momunds Show That They Knew Something About Warfare and Give the Sikhs and the Buffs a Hard Contest.

CAMP ANAYAT, via Panjkora, Sept.

18.—Severe fighting has taken place between the Second brigade of General Siz Bindon Blood's division and the Momunds. The British loss was 140 killed and wounded. The brigade had moved out to attack the Momunds in the valley north of the camp, to punish them for the assauk Tuesday night upon the force of General Jeffreys at the foot of Pawat pass. The Bengal lancers found the enemy intrenched on the hills about eight miles distant. The Thirty-fifth Sikhs was ordered to make the attack. The regiment was supported by four guns of a mountain battery and six companies of Buffs. The Sikhs drove the enemy into the hills, but eventually fell back upon the Buffs before superior numbers. The enemy then advanced against the left flank, drove back the cavalry and surrounded a company of Sikhs. The cavalry charged brilliantly and relieved the Sikhs, and the guides coming up swept the enemy back. The force haired for some time, destroying the enemy's towers, and then retired. A company of Sikhs on the hills to the extreme right was hard pressed and was tunning short of ammunition when the general officer commanding moved the guides forward to their relief, which was guilantly accomplished. The guides carried the wounded Sikhs back and executed the withdrawal in good order, though the enemy pressed them hard.

Darkness came on before the force reached the camp, and the guides, with General Jeffreys and his escort of Buffs. became separated from the column, which passed them in the gloom. General Jeffreys remained with the gune and took up a position in a village. The enemy had occupied a part of the village and, the escort not being strong enough to expel them, had inflicted considerable loss on the little party before Major Wortledge, with two companies, each composed of Sikhs and guides, came up and compelled them to re-A large party of cavalry and the Thir-

English Papers Comment.

LONDON, Sept. 18 .- All the morning papers comment upon the British reverse north of Camp Anayat.

The Daily Telegraph calls it "disastrous" and says: "Whether it was due to rashness or to some not yet explained cause, it win he a matter of unfeigned sorrow. When we read of the loss of so many valuable lives, we can only deriore a casualty which, though it will doubtless be speedily avenged, casts a gloom upon the happier intelligence received from Fort Culistan."

Bullders' Convention Ends.

DETROIT, Sept. 18.-The National Builders' association convention finishel its business yesterday. Milwaukes was chosen for the next convention, which will be held the first Tuesday in February, 1892. inventor, has obtained letters patent for a prospecting muchine that will obviate all difficulties arising from the frozen grounds of the Alaskan placer Thus far it has been necessary for the miners to build fires on the frozen gravel of the rivers in order to remove even a few inches of dirt. Six inches deep is considered a good thaw, and fire after fire has to be kindled to make any kind of an impression into the ground Mr. Schwarnweber's invention will enable two miners to prospect to a depth of 30 feet or even more without

The device consists of a steel screw which is worked into the ground like a post hole auger. A cylinder of the same diameter of the screw and two feet in depth follows the screw into the ground, and within the cylinder is a well bucket which has an open bottom into which the detached dirt and gravel are forced. When full this bucket is chivated by a windlass attachment and can be washed out and panned while the bucket is returned into the well for another load.

Longevity and Climate.

More people over 100 years old are found in mild climates than in the higher altitudes. According to the last census of the German empire, of a population of 55,000,000, only 78 have passed the hundredth year. France, with a population of 40,000,000, has 213 centenarians. In England there are 146; Irelind, 578, and in Scotland, 16. Sweden has 10, and Norway 23; Belgium, 5; Denmark, 2; Switzerland, none. Spain, with a population of 18,000,000, has 401 people over 100 years of age. Of the 2.250,000 inhabitants of Servia 575 people have passed the century mark. It is said that the oldest person living Cotrim, born in Africa, and now living in the latest imported weaves and colorings, all new styles, slik and wool, and fine all wool fancies. He is 150 years old.

A coachman in Moscow has lived 140 parts of the ore $1 goods. We will cut them up during his sale at 75c a yard.

THE ORANGE COUNTY FAIR

THE LAST DAY OF A VERY SUC-

Removing the Exhibits-A Very Nasty

At promptly four o'clock, Friday aiternoon, President Denuiston announced from in front of the president's tent: "I hereby declare this fair closed."

That was all that remained to make this exhibition officially terminated. In the meantime a grand rush was being made to get away from the grounds with exhibits. Expressmen were busy, truckmen worked without swearing, assistants packed up goods, and as fast as possible Mr. Irwin took down and packed up his tents. Herds of cows were driven away, pigs squealed a farewell and a real dog fight occurred.

J. Laird, of Newburgh, was the unlucky owner of the dogs. He had hard luck all through the closing hours. First, two of his Scotch coilies got away, and only one was returned. Next a fine collie pup was stolen while he was crating other dogs, and the fight completed the day's misfortunes. While leading half a dozen dogs by chains, a bull dog anddenly attacked a collie. All efforts to pull the dogs apart were fruitless, and a terrier took the collie by the ear to add to the poor creature's misery. Mr. Laird finally got them apart, but the collie's leg was badly bitten through and through, and the bones fractured.

Several of those who have been employed at the fair all the week took home large collections of vegetables and fruit which their owners had left behind.

THE DAY'S BACES.

The day's races held the interest of the crowd all the afternoon. In the 2:35 stake there was only one starter.-Ella Madison, owned and driven by H. J. Miller, or Goshen. She went two heats against her former time of 2:21% but owing to the high wind could do no better than 2:22 in the first and 2:23', in the second. The wind, which blew hard all the afternoon, precluded good time in any of the races. Following are the sum-

One of the exhibits which attracted atrention during the week was that at the Standard Oil Company's tent, where James Ural showed how very much sater gasoline is than is supposed by many users of the fuel. He always attracted a crowd.

During Friday afternoon a photograph was taken of Jacob Gunther's exhibit. This exhibit has been one of the leading features at the fair.

A GOOD THING

For Women to Remember. That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham they are communicating with a woman-a woman whose experience in treating woman's ills is greater than that of any living physician—male or female. A woman can talk freely to a woman

when it is revolting to relate her private troubles to a man-besides, a man does not understand—simply because he is a

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from ball to worse, knowing rull well that they should have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price they can consult a woman, whose knowledge from actual experience s greater than any local physician liv-

The following invitation is freely of ered, accept it in the same spirit:

Women suffering from any form of emale weakness are invited to freely communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only, thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken and has induced more than 100,000 sufferers to write her for advice during the last four months. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will belp your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved line embroidery, Maud McElroy, 1. Solid thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish, if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance-Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

You can tell just as well as a physician whether your kidneys are diseased or healthy. The way to do is to take a bottle or glass tumbler, and fill it with urine. If there is a sediment-a powderlike substance—at the bottom after standing a day and night, there is something wrong with the kidneys. Another sure sign of disease is a desire tourinate often, and still another sign is pain in the back If urine stains linen, there is no doubt that the kidneys are affected. Any and all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and of theurinary passages and constipation of the bowels are cured by Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. There is no question about its being the best and surest medicine in the world for such troubles. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine, and people, young or old, who take it are not compelled to get up a number of times during the night. For putting an end to that scalding pain experienced in passing urine, nothing is so good as Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer; is pleasant to taste, and does not seem to be medicine at all. Diseases of the kidneys and bladder often require the use of instruments to push back the sandy matter so the urine can be voided. In such cases Favorite Remedy should be taken without further delay or the disease may prove fatal. It is sold for one dollar a bottle at all drug stores. It is well worth many times its price.

Samples Free.

If you wish to test Dr. David Kennedy's vorite Remedy before buying it, send your full post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondont. N. Y., and mention this paper. We will then mail you a sample bottle free, as well as circulars giving full directions for its use. Every reader of the Angus can depend upon the genuineness of this liberal offer, and all sufferers from kidney troubles should take advantage of it at once.

In Putnam county, this week, Jesse Agor was convicted and fined $200 for selling hard cider without a liquor tax certificate. This is in accordance with the precedent established by the courts which have held that hard eider is "liquor" within the meaning of the Raines law. And it may be added that it is about the meanest "liquor" men can drink, for it produces a long enduring jog that is more brutalizing than that resulting from any other tipple.

A SILVER WEDDING.

Company in Bonor of the Event.

Mr. and Mis. Orson E. Hopkins celebrated their silver wedding or twentyfifth anniversary, Fraday night, at their home, 45 Linden Terrace.

About 100 were present, the out of town guests being Mrs. Charles Davis, of Norwich: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mandeville, of Hawley; Mr. and Mrs. Wallase Hopkins, of Aldenville, N. Y.; Mrs. T. Loveland, of Scrauton. Pa.: Mr. and Mrs. Cole, of State Hill; Mrs. William Florence, and son, Harry, and daughter, Mabe', of Scotchtown.

The house was pretaily decorated with flowers sent in by the neighbors, and a bank of flowers had the figures 72-97. A fine wedding supper was served and after some of the older people went home the younger set present danced and continued the festivities until 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Hopkins' maiden name was Mary D. Smirell, and she was married to Mr. Hopkins at Waymart, Pa., Sept. 18, 1872, by the Bey, J. Best. The children of the union are Milo S., Burt C. and Sarah A , all grown and at home.

There was a nice assortment of presents. Among them was a silver tea serwice from the Ladies' Auxiliaryof the B of L. E., of which Mrs. Hopkins is the highly esteemed president. A silver ice pitcher was given by the neighbors as Jollows: Mr. and Mrs. Crippen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Cudney, Mr. and Mrs. Ketcham, Mr. and Mrs. Curran, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Oster-

WHOSE HEART AFFLICTION ALTERS.

By Henry C. Murphy.

HE knew that the moment had been) the sweetest of a life into which the sunshine of happiness had seldom

But she also knew, and the thought came to her now with a bitter pang, that the blessedness of soul should have died a-borning and the moment should have been the most unhappy of all that

She sat in the sofily-falling twilight and gazed listlessly out over the narrow sward of green that separated the house from the street. She paid no heed to the passing throng hurrying bomeward after a day of toil. Some of them gazed in at her, curiously, perhaps, at first, but later more respectfully, for the yearning beauty of her great brown eyes mutely called for sympathy and seemed to droop when it was not extended. Masses of black, lowering clouds crowded the zenith, and, though the sun still held imperial revel and shot out dazzling messengers of ruddy yellow, the earth shook from time to time with the portentous crash of heavy thunder.

Still she heeded nothing, but continued to sit, thinking, thinking heavily and wearily of the time that she longed for now with a passionate hope that might never be realized.

She had done wrong, her conscience told her, and she smiled sadly through her latticed fingers at the thought that even in the midst of perfect happiness the consciousness of doing wrong had occurred to her But her heart had said, she remembered, that she was right. That comforted her, and the eyes that had grown misty brightened with the thought.

In the battle between conscience and heart the conqueror seldom wins the day without first suffering dreadful loss. This bit of philosophy, she queerly remembered, applied to her. The heart within her breast had won the first engagement, and conscience lay bleeding in sorrow at defeat. But the woman was strong and the odds were heavy, and in the final rally conscience was triumphant

She had bade him go, and the lips that uttered the words were firm, although her heart was nigh onto bursting. She was strong to the last, and she would not even let him touch her hand. She remembered that he had asked her to take it for the last time, but she had turned and walked away without even looking back

Her mind traveled over the long twelvemonth that had soparated them. She had asked him never to see her again, and he had obeyed. It had eost her dear to say the words that banished him, but the world had said that the blow had been more terrible for him. Weak she would not call him, though others did, and yet events clearly showed that he had wrecked himself

-some said for love of her. Even her husband had said it, and he had brighed at the man who could grovel at a woman's feet. Now the eves took on a dangerous light, and she clenched her fingers nervously, while her bosom beaved tremulously and her breath came in gasps.

The rain had begun to fall. Heavy drops trashed upon the window ledge and fell upon her hair and face. The artiflery of the heavens played now with unceasing vigor and ominous flashes lit up the troubled sky.

Recalled to herself by the wind and rain, she arose and, closing the window and drawing the curtains, turned up the light. She then resumed her chair, and without interruption the chain of thought was taken up where she had left off. As in sleep our last net or idea is ant to recur in dreumland, so her mind went back to her husband's bitter words.

That morning he had told her the gods had ponished him for marrying be low his station by putting gossip on the tongues of those who saw her as she was. And she, who had only been thoughtless and done that which her heart prompted, had replied in anger. He had left her with a curse on his lips. while she sat still and silent, thinking that life was wrong and happiness all a

What is More Attractive Than a pretty face with a fresh, bright complexion? For it, use Pozzoni's Powder

25 NORTH STREET, MIDDLETOWN.

"I would that he were dead," she thought, but, startled that her mind had dared to form it, she crouched deep in her chair and held her hands tightclasped before her eyes. Then, gaining courage, and remembering his curse. she repeated the thought, and wept that he had ever lived.

Slowly and uncertainly she arose and malked to her desk on the other side of the room. Almost mechanically she took up her pen, and without knowing the words it fashioned she wrote:

"Your curse and your memory are dike to me. The evil I have done you does not compare with what you have visited on me. I go to join one whose life may be as you say, but whose heart is still true and pure." The brown eyes were tearless and dull and the hand was firm that folded the note, placed it in an envelope and addressed it. The determination to go and be done with everything that had been her life was on her and her heart beat madly at the thought of freedom.

She went from room to room, gathering a few necessary articles of wearing apparel. For a moment she stood before the hall rack, pinning on her hat, and debating which gloves she should scleet. With womanly instinct she arranged her desk neatly, and placing the note she had written in a conspicuous place she walked firmly toward the

Without one look backward, without one thought of the home she was leaving, of the friends she was never to know again, she passed through the portal and out into the night.

For a moment after reaching the veranda she paused. She did not care for the rain, and yet she realized that she should not venture out in such a storm. She would not return for the other covering and walked quickly down the few steps and reached the gravel walk.

Then she stopped. The click of the iron gate and the sound of voices reached her ears. People were coming to the house and she knew she ought not be observed leaving at such a time. Quickly she turned and secreted herself in the shrubbery that guarded the walk from the lawn.

The noise of approaching footsteps grew louder, and she peered anxiously through the darkness. The idea struck her that it was strange her husband should have brought home friends in such a storm. Then she laughed, for she thought how funny it would be for the friends when he read her note before them. Indeed, the devil's mood was on

Now the party were almost upon her and still she could not see. A sudden flash of lightning and her gaze fell upon four men, who bore between them what appeared to be a heavy load. The glare showed ber the presence of a large number of people near the gate. "She may be there where the light is," a voice was saying. "My God, who will break it to her?" They paused and she crouched lower in the shrubbery. The rain beat pitilessly upon her already drenched and shivering form. A thorny branch tore her cheek and drew the blood, but she herded it not. Her senses were as numb as her body, and she did not realize what it all meant. She wondered vaguely if she was needed, but her one thought was to get away unnoticed.

Another voice came through the dark ness and downpour. The speaker was so close that she was startled and the shock almost brought her back to self. "He had just fallen when I reached him. We would better carry him in." Slowly they moved forward, and, im pelled by something she knew not what, she rose and followed. The rainfall drowned the sound of her footsteps and she reached the veranda unheeded just as they deposited their burden under the shelter. One of the party stepped forward to open the door. It was not locked and yielded to his pres

A broad sheath of light fell upon the strange scene and lit up the still rechaing mass on the floor. One of the men turned, and, seeing her, respectfully removed his dripping hat. She did not recognize him, and her eyes swept slowly over the others without discovering a familiar face.

No one spoke and this seemed strange to ber. With painfully unwilling steps she moved to the burden the nan had laid down and knelt before it. She did not want to kneel there and wordered strangely what the visitors would think of her. With the movements of an automaton she lifted the cloth and looked down upon a face that gazed back at her uniccognizingly. A dark-redstreak across the temple and check told he: all she had not known before.

"You will carry him in," she said, and the voice sounded strange to her. She rose and, stepping forward, opened the door wider and allowed them to pass

It was the room she had quitted only a few moments before. The men again deposited their burden on the floor and stood about awkwardly boushing the rain from their clothing. One cleared his voice preparatory to speaking, but his words died before being uttered as she glanced at him. The flare of the gus lights and the patter of the rain chops alone broke the stillness.

She removed her hat and dripping wrap and walked toward the desk. As she reached it she noticed something white lying on the cover. Picking it up she saw it was a letter addressed to her husband and in her handwriting. This was strange, she thought, and she tore the envelope and read:

"Your curse and your memory are alike to me."

Pausing, she turned around and faced the strange quartette. Her eyes fell on the white staring face, its ghastliness brought out more vividly by reason of the long red sear. The face fascinated her and it took all her will to remove her gaze. Then she looked upon the slip of paper in her hand.

"I am his murderer," she said. "I wished him as he is. I bid you go."-Chicago Journal.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLI VAN COUNTY ARE DOING

All the News from All Parts of the County-Many Matters of Interest Condensed from Our Sullivan Exchangeand Contributed by Wide Awake Correspondents.

-An unknown elderly man, violently insane, who mutters incoherently for a few minutes and then howls like a hound, was found on the street in Moncello, Tuesday. It was necessary to place him in the jail for safe keeping.

-P. E. Palen and family, of Monticello, have gone to Norfolk, Va., for the winter. They will hereafter reside in the south.

-W. F. Royce, of the Hearthstone Inn. at DeBruce, is negotiating for a Florida

-The Livingston Manor Manufacturing Co.'s works, started up, Monday.

-Mrs. T. Townley has had plans prepared for a fine cottage which she will erect at DeBruce. The Ensign says that village is becoming very popular with city people.

-While Mrs. Ed. Van Leuvan, of Emmonsville, was breaking a limb from a dead tree, Tuesday, the tree fell on her, pinning her to the ground. Her husband heard her screams but was not able to release her and had to go to a neighbor's, a mile away, in order to secure help. When the tree was finally moved the woman was paralyzed from the hips down. The family are in destitute carcumstances. They recently moved from near Ellenville and Wawarsing's poor master has authorized Rockland's authorities to care for the woman, br has told them to let the man shift for himself, as he is a "star actor on the poor fund.

-The Dominican Sisters larve suffered much appropance of late from the depredations of tramps who have committed many theits from their property in Foresiburgh. A deputy has been sworn in and effort will be made to arrest the -Elsie, the five-year-old daughter of O-M. Couch, of White Lake, while climbing over the back of a chair, a few days ago. fell and broke her arm and dislocated her elbow.

-The Register says that house hunters are now seeking varant rooms and houses in Liberty with but little success. as there is now not room for half a dozen more families in the village, and these rooms, if present indications fortell results, will all be taken within a week or two. This unsual demand for houses is undoubtedly due not only in part to Liberty's increased all-year-round business interests, but also to the fact that several city people have recently reuted or purchased and are permanently occupying dwellings in Liberty.

-The executors of the will of the late Hannah Hammond, of Monticello, have filed a statement showing that their total receipts have been $35,291.61. The disbursements on account of the will contest were $1,695,73. The total amount to be distributed is $28,092.51.

-Aretas Hoyt is adding another story to his botel at Bridgeville, for although it has been a popular and well kept inv ever since it was opened by the present | proprietor's grandfather over fifty years ago, a Raines law inspector recently made the discovery that it had not rooms enough to comply with the law.

-The Liberty foot ball team is desirons of making dates for the fall season with teams averaging about 145 pounds.

-The joint teachers' institute for the districts or this county will be held at Central Music Hall, Monticello, during the week commencing Oct, 11 and it is expected over 200 teachers will be in uttendance.

-While the inneral procession of Emily Dunlan, of Mongaup Valley, was passing through Monneello, Tuesday, some or the teams began to back and the wagon or Owen Broadhead, of near Monticello, was cramped in such a way that his hand cut.

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN

Moral-Concerning Being Let Alone, From a Special Correspondent.

-Mrs. Wilmot P. Thompson and daughters have returned from Elizabeth, where they had been visiting relatives.

-Mrs. H. C. Duryea and children have returned from Troy, N. Y., where they have been spending several weeks.

-There is an old game called "Gossip," the participants in which sit in a line and the one on the end whispers something very rapidly to his neighbor, who, in turn, repeats it, as he has understood it, to the one next imm, and so on until the other extremity is reached when both 'end men" repeat the tale, one as it was originally, and the other as it came to him. Some one told the writer astory the other day. It was a very little story, but it seemed to her that it had a very big moral—a moral so plain that he who runs may easily read it. A lady, while out walking, met a friend, who told her that a mad dog had run through the village the night before. She, in turn, imparted the information to another lady, who said, oh, yes, she had heard it, it was true and that jurthtermore ithad bitten "Mrs. Jones's" little dog. Visions of hydrophobia Launting the first character in this simple tale, she repeated it to still another listener, who understood her to say that "Mrs. Jones's" little girl had been bitten. Naturally agitated by such sad news she informed the minister of the church which Mrs. Jones att-nded and he hastened to call on her with words of sympathy on his lips. Explanations followed and it transpired that not even her dog had been mjured, but a anme belonging to another family of the laugh, in which particular it differed from many that are started in a similar manner. It is a strange thing that, though we may pride ourselves upon our astureness, though we may inquire carefully regarding the truth of most matters, we are so apt to believe whatever "they say" about our neighbor, no matter how it may differ from our previous ideas of him, without stopping to find out how the story originated or giving him the benefit of a doubt. The truth is that people are not let alone nearly enough. It is really a clever person who ean manage his own affairs satisfactorily, but the majority of us are willing at almost any time to unselfishly give up the effort in order to help somebody else to get his into proper shape. Somehow we seem to know what he ought to do so much better than he does himself that we feel it would not be quite right of us to let him worry along by himself without our help. Then we wouder that he appears to be irritated when we have such good motives. It is seldom, though, that we learn sufficient wisdom to les him alone.
